Fund Guide abrdn Global Real Estate Fund

February 2024

The abrdn Global Real Estate Fund aims to generate income and long-term growth by investing in commercial property markets across the world. It offers clients the opportunity to diversify away from domestic real estate through a portfolio of assets in key global cities. Most of the portfolio's investments are in direct real estate, but the Fund's mandate also allows allocation to indirect and listed real estate.

What does the abrdrn Global Real Estate Fund invest in?

The Fund's strategy is to invest in both direct and listed real estate. The Fund targets a higher and more persistent weighting to direct real estate assets, which is typically towards the top-end of the 50-80% mandate range.¹ The Fund provides direct real estate exposure to key gateway cities across the globe. The hybrid nature of the Fund also enables us to take highly differentiated exposures across a broad range of underlying assets via the listed real estate market. By combining both direct and listed real estate investments, we believe we can achieve the best possible risk-adjusted returns for investors.

Investment objective

Important information

The value of investments and the income from them can fall and investors may get back less than the amount invested. Investors should be aware of the following risk factors: - The use of derivatives carries the risk of reduced liquidity, substantial loss and increased volatility in adverse market conditions, such as a failure amongst market participants. The use of derivatives may result in the fund being leveraged (where market exposure and thus the potential for loss by the fund exceeds the amount it has invested) and in these market conditions the effect of leverage will be to magnify losses.

- The fund invests in emerging market equities and / or bonds. Investing in emerging markets involves a greater risk of loss than investing in more developed markets due to, among other factors, greater political, tax, economic, foreign exchange, liquidity and regulatory risks.
- The fund invests in equity and equity related securities. These are sensitive to variations in the stock markets which can be volatile and change substantially in short periods of time.
- Commercial property is less liquid than other asset classes such as bonds or equities. Selling property can be a lengthy process so investors in the fund should be aware that they may not be able to sell their investment when they want to.
- Commercial property transaction charges are higher than those which apply in other asset classes. Investors should be aware that a high volume of transactions would have a material impact on fund returns.
- Property valuation is a matter of judgment by an independent valuer and is therefore a matter of the valuer's opinion rather than fact.
- Dividend payment policies of the REITs in which the fund invests are not representative of the dividend payment policy of the fund.
- The fund employs a single swinging pricing methodology to protect against the dilution impact of transaction costs. Due to the high transaction charges associated with the fund's assets, a change in the pricing basis will result in a significant movement in the fund's published price.

All investment involves risk. This fund offers no guarantee against loss or that the fund's objective will be attained. The price of assets and the income from them may go down as well as up and cannot be guaranteed; an investor may receive back less than their original investment. Inflation reduces the buying power of your investment and income. The value of assets held in the fund may rise and fall as a result of exchange rate fluctuations. The fund could lose money if an entity (counterparty) with which it does business becomes unwilling or unable to honour its obligations to the fund.

In extreme market conditions some securities may become hard to value or sell at a desired price. This could affect the fund's ability to meet redemptions in a timely manner. The fund could lose money as the result of a failure or delay in operational processes and systems including but not limited to third party providers failing or going into administration.

The Performance Target is the level of performance that the management team hopes to achieve for the fund. There is however no certainty or promise that they will achieve the Performance Target. The Manager believes this is an appropriate target for the fund based on the investment policy of the fund.
